At the Dreamland.

At Dreamland is being shown the picture, "What Shall We Do With Our Old?" a picture founded upon an actual occurrence in New York City.

"What Shall We Do With Our Old?" is a great problem that we realize at first casual thought, but for the pension for the soldier, but for the useful citizen, wounded in the battle of life—nothing. In this army we find the ambitions, public-spirited men, wearing away their physical and mental faculties in their struggle for a livelihood, while shouldering the wheel of progress, under which juggernaut they are almost inevitably crushed.

This Biograph subject illustrates the old carpenter, starting off for work in the morning, leaving at home a wife old and ill. At the shop a new foreman is put in charge, and a wedding of the old hands takes place, as the employer insists upon the infusion of young blood among his employees. Hence the old man, with others, suffers the penalty of being old—discharged. At his age, he finds it impossible to obtain employment, and having been active and independent all his life, is too proud to seek charity. A story that will appeal to all. It's at the Dreamland.

There will be a special communication of Granite Lodge, No. 35, F. & A. M., Friday evening at 7 o'clock; work, M. M. degree. Per order, W. M.
